Hi everyone,
It's official. We are on the web site for Sark. www.sark.info
Go to news and you will see those who met Sue Daly for a critique after a day out painting. Unfortunately for Robin, I was given credit for HER painting. Would like to claim it's mine, but you all know better.
And ...it was a wonderful trip, and we DID paint.

Sark Inspires More Artists
As the Artists for Nature Foundation Sark Project was coming to an end a couple of weeks ago another group of artists were getting over their jet lag and beginning to explore the island. They had travelled from Virginia in America and are 23 members of an art group called the Studio School. They spent a week in Sark recording the landscape and wildlife in a variety of media. Most hadn't been to the island before but thoroughly enjoyed their time here commenting on the natural beauty of Sark and the friendliness of the people here. On returning home group co-leader Vera Dickerson said, "Our trip was such a dream, filled with the freedom of holiday and the peace which I hope will be a legacy for all Sark-ees. It's back to Monday mornings here, but I think we are all changed for the better because of time spent on Sark."
